

Nova Scotia Strikes Gold at Past Canada Winter Games

As the 12th Canada Winter Games gets underway February 12 in Halifax, Nova Scotia, athletes have some lofty goals to achieve.

In the first 11 Games – one of which was held on Nova Scotia soil in Cape Breton in 1987 – provincial athletes won 21 gold medals, 32 silver and 43 bronze.

In 2007 in Whitehorse, Yukon, only one gold was won – by half-pipe snowboarder Alexandra Duckworth in a demonstration sport. There were three silvers and four bronze medals won in those games.

Obviously, the bar has been set to exceed that total and, maybe, to match or better the 14 total medals won in 1979 in Brandon, Manitoba, or in 1995 in Grand Prairie, Alberta.

Research on the Canada Games websites from 1967's first Winter Games in Quebec City to the most recent four years ago, as complete as possible, lists the following as Nova Scotia gold medallists, a lofty achievement in a variety of sports, many against long odds and almost all against provinces with larger numbers of competitors chosen from a huge population pool.

GOLD MEDALISTS:

- 1967 – Quebec City
 - G. Jones, wrestling, 160 lb
- 1975 – Lethbridge
 - Chris Clarke, boxing, 125 lb
 - Graham Eldridge, weightlifting, middle heavyweight
- 1979 – Brandon
 - Robert Macdonald, weightlifting, 110 kg
 - Mike Nickel, boxing, 54 kg
 - James Jones, boxing, 63.5 kg
- 1983 – Saguenay-Lac St. Jean
 - Graham Mauger, weightlifting, 110 kg +
 - Derek Logan, judo, 54 kg

Chris Clarke, Halifax, proudly displays his 1975 Canada Games boxing gold medal won in the 125 class. Chris, a 2006 inductee to the Nova Scotia Sport Hall of Fame, later won a gold medal in the lightweight division at the Pan-American Games and fought for Canada in the 1976 Olympics in Montreal. In 1979, he won the British Commonwealth welterweight title over Clyde Gray before 10,000 fans at Halifax Metro Centre.

- 1987 – Cape Breton
 - Men's Basketball
 - Angela Coady / Glenn Maccara, figure skating, novice dance
 - Elizabeth Rutt, table tennis, U-13

1991 – Charlottetown

- Jason Peebles, boxing, 54 kg
- Jim Dan Corbett, weightlifting, snatch, 75-82.5 kg
- Jim Dan Corbett, weightlifting, clean and jerk, 75-82.5 kg
- Jim Dan Corbett, weightlifting, total, 75-82.5 kg

1995 – Grand Prairie

- Jennifer Hanna, artistic gymnastics, balance beam

1999 – Corner Brook, NL

- Amanda Berry / Kate MacDonald, target shooting, team air pistol
- John Mattatall / Christa Wilson, figure skating, novice pairs

2003 – Bathurst/Campbellton, NB

- James Blood, figure skating, men's Special Olympics level 2
- Curtis White, boxing, 67 kg to 71 kg class

2007 – Whitehorse, Yukon

- Alexandra Duckworth, snowboarding half pipe (demo sport)

Past Games Athletes Star on World Stage

❖ SIDNEY CROSBY, a Canada Games athlete in 2003, has been a hockey superstar since he was a youth player in Cole Harbour. He has starred in the Quebec Major Junior league, was chosen first in the NHL draft by Pittsburgh, was the youngest captain ever named by the team, led them to the Stanley Cup in 2009, and has won many individual awards including the NHL scoring championship, NHL MVP and Canada's Male Athlete of the Year.

❖ JOE DIPENTA played in Canada Games in 1993. Growing up in Cole Harbour, he was drafted 61st overall by the Florida Panthers. He played with Halifax Mooseheads and Boston University and eventually was a Stanley Cup champion defenseman with the 2007 Anaheim Ducks.

❖ DAVID KIKUCHI, a gymnast in the 1995 Canada Games and a coach of the gymnastics team in 2007, competed in every discipline in the 2004 Athens and 2008 Beijing Summer Olympics. His best finish was 9th in the team all-around competition in 2008. His top individual showing was a 23rd in rings in 2008.

Jones Named to Games Hall of Honour

One of Canada's great curlers, a two-time world champion and six-time national champion (A Canadian record), as well as a multi-winner of the Nova Scotia championship, Colleen Jones has been named to the Canada Games Hall of Honour.

Induction into the Canada Games Hall of Honour occurs every two years during every Canada Games. The Hall of Honour recognizes, honours and celebrates exceptional Canada Games alumni who have distinguished themselves as athletes, coaches, officials or administrators, or who have made an outstanding contribution to the development and advancement of the Canada Games Movement.

At the 1979 Canada Winter Games in Brandon, Manitoba, Jones helped Team Nova Scotia capture a silver medal. She played an important role to help secure the 2011 Canada Games in Halifax. Jones won four consecutive Scott Tournaments of Hearts between 2001 and 2004 and, besides her world wins in 2001 and 2004, was runner up in 2003. She is a member of the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame.

Colleen will be recognized at a ceremony February 10 at the Nova Scotia Sport Hall of Fame at which time speed skater Catriona LeMay Doan, and builders Jim Morell of Fredericton and Guy Rousseau of Quebec will also be celebrated.

Basketball Gold Still a Thrill 24 Years Later

Kevin Veinot looks back at the 1987 Canada Games basketball gold medal win with pride.

Now principal at North East Kings Education Centre in Canning, and an assistant coach of Acadia Axemen, for whom he starred in the 1980s, Veinot says the championship game win against Quebec was like “David and Goliath. We did something (against a much larger province with a large basketball base) that no one had ever accomplished, and still hasn’t in winning the basketball gold medal.”

Inducted in 2005, the 1987 team went 6-0 in preliminary rounds in the Cape Breton Games, then whipped British Columbia 116-86 in the semi-final before taking on Quebec in the final.

With 1,200 people packing a jammed gym, Nova Scotia jumped to a 38-35 halftime lead before running away with a 91-76 win.

“It had to be the biggest emotional win of all of our basketball careers,” Veinot says. “We had all been on provincial teams for the previous four to five years and hadn’t really won much, but this was the ultimate victory. While coaching today, I stress to our players that it doesn’t matter the size of the community you come from, it’s the size of the fight you have in you to achieve. I certainly use that win as a motivator.”

Wade Smith, vice principal at Sir John A. Macdonald High School in Tantallon, reflects that the longer he’s away from that win, the more significant he feels it is in the history of Nova Scotia sport “as a member of the first and only Nova Scotia gold medal basketball team at the Games.”

He said many people made sacrifices to be part of that team... the players, of course, but the coaching staff, and the coaches and teams for whom the Canada Games team members played who gave up their players for that one-week period (and practice time, too).

“Everyone made a commitment,” says Smith. “Today (teammate) Augie Jones is head coach of the 2013 Canada Games men’s basketball team and I’m his assistant. We stress to the players they can’t take anything for granted and stress how difficult it is, and will be, to attain our goals. We were 21 and under in 1987. Now the Games team will be 17 and under so there is a different dynamic with our players.”

He says they impress on their players that the “game owes you nothing. You owe it the sweat and tears and sacrifice. You have to play hard, with no excuses. These are things I took away from my 1987 experience.”

Many members of the 1987 team have made their mark on society in the 24 years since. While Smith and Veinot are in school administration, Jones teaches at Dartmouth High, Scott Borden is a probation officer, Jason Wilson a corrections officer, Keith Donovan and Charles Ikejiani are medical doctors. Grant MacDonald is an engineer and James McQuaid runs a music studio and promotes young artists. Others are still working and living in the province.

Many are still involved in basketball. Borden, Smith and Wilson all coach minor basketball with the latter also assisting at Dartmouth High. Manager Mark Parker, who works at the QEII Health Sciences Centre, is a coach at Citadel High. Jones is an assistant with Saint Mary’s University men’s team. Games team coach Bev Greenlaw is head coach of Acadia University women’s team.

“It’s great to be able to give back,” says Smith. “As get older we realize the accomplishment we made and the sacrifices people made for us to do that.”

1905 PITCHER NOW ON DISPLAY AT HALL With Love: On the Back of a Harley Davidson

At 5 o'clock on June 7, 1905, the room was decorated in purple and white – the colours of the Amherst Ramblers hockey team. With three cheers and the Ramblers chorus, the Ramblers Club greeted Lorne Simpson and his bride, Miss Annie Higgins. The wedding was underway.

One of the greatest hockey players in the Maritimes, Lorne was also a member of Ramblers Club. He was dedicated to sports. When the ice had melted for the season, he worked to keep baseball and football clean and respectful.

It was not just a wedding, though. Lorne had taken a job in Edmonton, so this was also a goodbye. The Ramblers Hockey Team presented the young newlyweds with a beautifully engraved silver water pitcher, "From RHT 1905". Then off went the pitcher and the happy couple to Edmonton. Soon, however, the Simpson family returned permanently to Nova Scotia, setting up a home in Stewiacke.

Lorne's daughter, Lorna, was also a hockey player. Coached by her father, she played for the Stewiacke Ladies, before moving to Massachusetts.

Lorne gave his daughter the silver pitcher, shortly before he passed away in 1951. She kept it until she passed away when the pitcher went to Earlene, Lorna's daughter (Lorne's granddaughter).

Earlene and her husband cared for the pitcher until 2010. They realized it belonged in Nova Scotia, so they got on their Harley Davidsons and drove about 1000km from their home in Massachusetts to the Nova Scotia Sport Hall of Fame.

Now, the pitcher is back in Nova Scotia and the Hall of Fame will keep it and its story for all to enjoy, because it is not just a silver pitcher, is it? It is over 100 years of history, born from the Nova Scotian love of hockey and the love shared between two people. So, grab someone you love and bring them to the Hall of Fame, because even hockey can be romantic.

Hall of Fame intern, Tinisha Stilling, prepared this story.

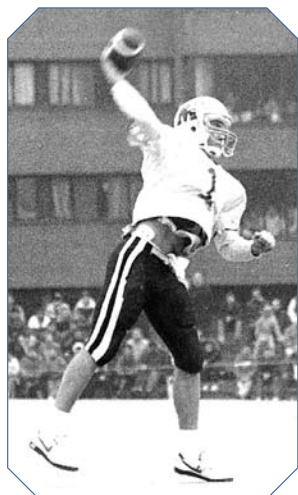

BlackBerry Sponsors Hall of Fame Theatre

BlackBerry has signed a three-year sponsorship agreement obtaining naming rights to the BlackBerry Theatre in the Hall of Fame. The theatre area is a marquee location hosting schools, groups, media conferences, corporate meetings, receptions and thousands of visitors to the Hall. Executive Director Bill Robinson stated “BlackBerry is a great international Canadian company with which we are proud to be associated with.

The new Hall of Fame has attracted over 80,000 visitors annually in its first four years of operation.

Chris Flynn First Non-Pro Named to Canadian Football Hall of Fame Since 1963

The Canadian Football Hall of Fame is about to slightly alter its all-professional player focus to include amateur athletes.

Chris Flynn, former star quarterback with Saint Mary's Huskies in the 1980s, a three-time Hec Crighton Award winner as the outstanding player in Canadian University football, was recently elected into the Canadian Football Hall of Fame.

He was a Canadian college quarterback who could do it all mechanically, yet through an intuitive art of improvisation had an uncanny ability to call the right play in any given situation. The vision of Chris Flynn scrambling in the backfield, warding off defenders, and controlling the play until he uncovered his receiver, was a sight that fans will forever cherish in the career of an exceptional athlete.

His individual distinctions were awesome; four-time AUS All-Star QB; three time CIS All-Canadian QB; CIS records for most TD passes in a season and career; leading rusher QB in CIS history; and the ultimate mark of greatness, his unprecedented three times as national MVP Hec Crighton Trophy winner. From 1987 to 1990, Chris led Saint Mary's to a 27-2 regular season record, both losses coming on the road in 1987; four AUAA championships; a 2-2 record in four Atlantic Bowls; and two Vanier Cup appearances. In 1988, '89 and '90, Flynn and the Huskies lost only three games, one each season and all to the eventual national champions.

Stars Shine on Induction Night 2010

A gala November night brought together six athletes and three builders as the newest inductees to the Nova Scotia Sport Hall of Fame.

Pictures tell the proverbial 1,000 words. The joy on the faces of the new entrants to the provincial Hall of Fame shows the excitement of being recognized among the elite in provincial sport history – as athletes and builders. Memories created on induction night will live forever in the hearts and minds of the nine new Hall of Fame members and their families and friends.

The 2010 Induction Class of the Nova Scotia Sport Hall of Fame was recognized November 6th. Inductees were Carl 'Bucky' Buchanan, builder; Janice Cossar, multi-sport; Mike Forgeron, rowing; Kevin Heisler, builder; Robyn Meagher, athletics; Rick Rivers, builder; Gary Sabean, karate; Cindy Tye, soccer; and Ross Webb, soccer.

Hall of Fame inductee Gary Sabean is interviewed on stage by emcee Bruce Rainnie.

Pat Daly Named 2010 Volunteer of the Year

Long-time volunteer, Pat Daly, was presented the Volunteer of the Year award at Induction Night last November.

The president and CEO of Marcap Realtor Managers, a property management company, is a former member of the Hall's board, chaired the Hall of Fame Golf Tournament for the last 14 years through he helped raise over $300,000, and was a major player in the capital campaign to develop the current Hall of Fame site.

Pat, an original Gold Club member, is a former national women's ski team coach.

"He's a doer," says Hall of Fame executive director Bill Robinson. "With his passion for the Hall, he has been one of our most consistent, long-time volunteers."

Updated Graphics Excite Simulator Users

The Tim Hortons Sports Simulator is more realistic than ever as men and women, boys and girls, test their skills against the computer-generated athletes on screen.

A new software package has been added which shows better graphics as hockey, soccer, basketball, football and baseball enthusiasts—people of all ages—live their dreams of outsmarting the computer athletes. The response time of the computer is quicker which adds to the enjoyment of the participants.

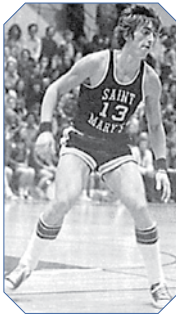

Did You Know...

❖ Sydney-native PAUL BOUTILLIER was a member of Canada's 1980 World Junior Championship Team and was voted the best defenceman in the tournament. He was drafted 21st overall by the New York Islanders in 1981. In 1983, his first year as a pro, he played 29 regular season games and two playoff games with the Islanders and earned a Stanley Cup ring. He was inducted in 1994.

Paul's Team Canada Sweater is in the Nova Scotia Sport Hall of Fame. Note the misspelling of his last name. He was BEST DEFENSEMAN in the tournament and they STILL got it wrong.

❖ Three basketball inductees had tryouts with National Basketball Association teams and one played a season in the world's top basketball league. BRIAN HEANEY (inducted 2009) played with Baltimore Bullets after a superb career at Acadia University. RICHIE SPEARS (1980), New Waterford, started with the Axemen in the 1950s and 1960s, then had a tryout with St. Louis Hawks but chose to remain in Nova Scotia. MICKEY FOX pictured right (2009), a many-time All-Canadian with Saint Mary's Huskies, was drafted by Detroit and Portland but remained in Nova Scotia to build a teaching career.

❖ DOUGLAS "DUGGER" MACNEIL, Halifax, has been inducted to the Hall of Fame THREE times – as a member of the 1948 Saint Mary's hockey juniors (inducted 2002), the 1952 through 1954 Halifax Atlantics (1980) with whom he was a player-coach, and as an individual athlete, a tough defenseman with every team on which he played (1988).

❖ WILLIAM NJOKU, Halifax, starred for the Saint Mary's Basketball team. The 6'8 Centre was all-Canadian and voted Canada's top CIS University player in 1992-93. William was drafted in the second round of the NBA draft by the Indiana Pacers.

❖ Port Hood claims two Hall of Famers. Hockey superstar AL MACINNIS, with a Stanley Cup ring, Olympic gold medal, the first Nova Scotian to win a winter gold, and multi-all-star recognitions, and football icon BRUCE BEATON, a two-time Grey Cup champion and many-time conference and league all star, both hail from the small Cape Breton community. MacInnis was inducted in 2008 and Beaton in 2009.

❖ MIKE HENDERSON, Brookfield, played in the 1975 Canada Winter games as a hockey player but was recognized by the Hall with induction as an individual athlete in 1999 as an athlete for his stellar long-time performances with Brookfield Elks fastball team. That club was inducted in 1988 for winning the 1980 national senior men's championship.

❖ PAUL MACLEAN, Antigonish, made a splash in the hockey world by playing Major Junior hockey, CIS hockey with Dalhousie Tigers, leading them to their first AUS hockey title, was a member of Canada's national team, and had a 10-year career in the National Hockey League. He scored more than 40 goals three times, finished 11th in league scoring in 1984-85 with 101 points and scored 324 goals and 349 assists in a 719 game career, he's now an assistant coach with Detroit Red Wings. Paul was inducted in 1995.

In Memoriam

Paul Mason, Bedford, N.S., a member of Fisherman's Market Midget Boys Fastball national champions, passed away December 11, 2010 in Halifax. He was also an active hockey player and coach, an avid runner and promoted healthy living. The team was inducted to the Hall in 2006.
